TABACCO.—President W. B. Hawkins of the Burley Tobacco Growers Association admits that his card issued recently in which he appeared to think that the plans had failed, was for the purpose of stirring up the tobacco men of the country to action. Mr. Hawkins is now quoted as saying: "Our showing at the round-up of the signed contracts was far better than we had expected. We have not the requisite amount of tobacco, but will have in ten days if we do not let up. The workers of the company will be asked to go on taking contracts, and all of the counties in the Burley district which have not been worked will have speakers to get them in line, as we want to contract for all tobacco that is yet out." Washington county tobacco growers are resting easy on the matter. Perhaps the majority of the tobacco in this county has been contracted to the association, and those who have stayed out say that they are not worrying, that they believe that they will get a good price this year anyway, for their product. Few farmers look any farther ahead than one year in this matter which is bad for the success of the Burley Association, as the strong point in the argument of the promoters is that the organization, if made a success this year, will become permanent and will prove a factor in fighting the tobacco trust, which threatens to keep the price of tobacco at a low figure.

HAVE NOT LEARNED.—One would suppose that as long as the Australian ballot system of voting has been in vogue that the voters in an enlightened county like Washington would have learned how to record their votes correctly, but an examination of the returns of the recent election shows that such is not the case with many of the voters in this community. Aside from a number of ballots which could not be counted by the officers at all for the reason that the intention of the voter could not be determined at all, there were ballots passed without the formality of a warning. The reason that farm owners are growing so particular is due to several causes. Reckless hunters have frequently injured stock by shooting, and then birds are becoming so scarce that the average farmer don't care to have them exterminated. One farmer in speaking of the matter to the NEWS-LEADER man, remarked: "The fool Kentucky Legislature has passed a law forbidding a man from killing his own birds on his own farm and giving them away or selling them, so we are not going to have any town chips coming out to kill them for us and carry them away."

HUNTING.—Yo sportsman with gun and dog is out in full force this week, but he is warned to be exceedingly careful on whose farm he sets his foot, for the farmers throughout the county seem to be particularly averse to allowing any hunting on their places. Notices have been published and posted by many warning hunters off. Under the existing law every man's property is posted and hunters entering on farms without the owner's consent, lay themselves liable to prosecution, for trespass, without the formality of a warning. that the voters are not all educated to the ballot system and some probably never will become so.

GOOD HUMORED.—Local Democrats while surprised at the gigantic proportions of the recent Republican land slide are inclined to take the matter good naturedly and to go ahead in the daily pursuit of their business. A good story is told on a well known farmer Democrat who had interest enough in the election to come to town on election night to learn something of the result. He had been indoors getting news which indicated that Roosevelt had swept the country. Every telegram was in favor of Roosevelt. Roosevelt appeared to be all powerful. The farmer issued forth after a while and found a good rain falling which indicated the breaking up of the distressing drouth. This was indeed good news. The farmer with a sigh of gratitude lifted his hat and with his faced turned skyward so that the rain fell upon his rugged countenance said: "That's right R. osevelt let it rain on." Another well known citizen who takes an interest in matters political was an interested listener to the news from over the country and after hearing of the great votes of New York, Indiana and other doubtful States, turned to a companion with the remark: "They say that Booker Washington ate dinner with the President. I wonder what would have happened if Teddy had invited him to stay to supper."

INDICEMENTS.—The grand jury which closed its session last week returned a big batch of indictments 99 in all for various offenses most of them misdemeanors. They do say that Commonwealth's Attorney Darham is proving a terror to law breakers and that his promptness and aid in the grand jury room helped materially in swelling the list of true bills. One would hardly have thought to judge from the apparent quietude and order which has pervaded our county during the past few months that it would be possible to find that many violations of the law but such is evidently the case and it is said that several surprises are in store for offenders.

HUNTING.—Yo sportsman with gun and dog is out in full force this week, but he is warned to be exceedingly careful on whose farm he sets his foot, for the farmers throughout the county seem to be particularly averse to allowing any hunting on their places. Arrested at Lebanon

Herman Metz, a Jewish optician, is in jail here charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. On June the 19th he gave Mr. C. E. Mullins a worthless check for $19 and for a while time Chief of Police Thompson has had him "shadowed" and has had him arrested twice—but for some reason he was released. Thursday of last week he was arrested again at Williamstown and the Sheriff of Grant county brought him here and lodged him in jail, in default of $200 bond. His trial is set for Tuesday.—Palcon.

OF LOGAL INTEREST

SOLVED.—The problem published below has been puzzling school teachers and others in the county, and by request Prof. Simpson Roberts has made a solution of it as follows: PROBLEM.—How much lead, Specific gravity 11, with 1 ounce copper, specific gravity 9, can be put on 12 ounces of cork, assuming the specific gravity 1, so that the three will just float, that is, have a specific gravity (1) the same as water? SOLUTION.—If the specific gravity of copper is 9, a bulk of copper an ounce in size, or any other size, will equal 9 bulks of water of the same size, and if the specific gravity of cork be 1, a given bulk of cork will buoy its own weight and three bulks of water's size, thus 9 divided by three equals 3, that is, one bulk of cork the size of one of the 9 bulks of water compared with the copper will buoy 3 of said bulks of water, or one sixth of an ounce of cork will float or buoy 1 ounce of copper when the copper is not immersed; but when the copper is immersed it will weigh one-ninth of its weight, or the ratio of copper weighed in air and water will be as 8 to 9, or nine eighths, or one-sixth divided by nine eighths equals one-sixth multiplied by eight-ninths equals four-twenty-sevenths. Thus cork will sustain when immersed in water 1 ounce of copper; 12 minus four-twenty-sevenths equals 11 and twenty-three twenty-sevenths ounces of cork; and as buoyant force of cork is 3, 11 and twenty-three twenty-sevenths ounces cork will buoy 11 and twenty-three twenty-sevenths multiplied by 3 equals 35 and fifteen twenty-sevenths ounces when substance is not immersed; but the ratio of load weighed in water is eleventh-twentieth or 1.1, thus 35 and fifteen twenty-sevenths multiplied by 1.1 equals 39 and one-ninth ounces, or 2 pounds and 7 and one-ninth ounces. Answer.

TO TAKE CHARGE.—Rev. W. Y. Davis, Secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Grundy Presbyterian Orphanage, was here this week to act with Messrs. John W. Lewis and W. A. Waters, the local members of the board, in taking formal charge of the property. A Superintendent has already been employed and put in charge, Mr. William Abernethy, who is well recommended for such work, and with his family to the home and will take charge of the work of preparing the house for the purpose for which it is destined. It is not expected to have any child placed at the home for some time yet, but there is a good deal of work to be done and many details to be attended to before the place is ready. The large farm will be operated for the benefit of the home and in connection therewith. The Grundy Presbyterian Orphanage promises to be a success and a blessing to the good woman who donated it.

GOOD SALE.—The public sale of live stock, grain, etc., of Mr. Luther A. Burns which took place last Thursday was well attended and everything sold well. The sale was one of the largest ones that has taken place in this county for some time.

LUMBER.—Marks & Green the local lumber men, have made a big purchase of logs from S. K. Coffey, who has been in the county for several months buying timber and shipping it out. This lumber was in the log and at the station here ready to be shipped when Marks & Green purchased it. There are about 150,000 feet of it and it is being sawed into rough lumber by the firm at a temporary saw mill just above town.

county for sometime, realizing about $5,000. Among the principal items of live stock to sell were the following: Six steers, for $195; 9 steers, $184.50; 4 yearling steers, $92; 5 yearling steers $100; 4 heifers, $57; 3 heifers $52; 1 same, $18; cow, $22; cow, $20; bay colt, $72; 2 year old colt, $75; 2-year old colt, $100; pair work mules, $605; 1 mule $60; 5-year-old mule, $140; a three-year-old mule, $141; sorrel mare, $44; brown mare, $93.50; black mare, $82; pair work mules, $325. OFFICIAL COUNT.—The official count of the vote of this county at the Presidential election was completed last Saturday and the result agreed with the figures given by the NEWS-LEADER last week. The plurality for the Parker electors is 34, counting the vote of the leading electors on each side. The total vote cast shows a remarkable falling off from that of the vote cast in 1900 the last presidential election which illustrates the indifference of the voters in the past campaign. There were 339 fewer votes cast for the electors this year than in 1900. The vote for Bryan in 1900 in Washington county was 1069, for Parker in 1904, 1482 or 187 less. The vote for McKinley in 1900 was 1000 for Roosevelt in 1904, 1448 or 152 less. The Republican gain in the county for president over 1900 is 95 votes. This year the Prohibition ticket received 31 votes, Peoples Party 7, the Socialists 1 and the Social Labor none. Judge L. H. Thurman received 1496 votes for Circuit Judge.

TURKEYS.—The Springfield Poultry Co. has begun turkey killing operations at its plant here, but on a small scale, owing to the difficulty in securing turkeys. Buyers have been out through the country for some time, but they have contracted for only a few fowls. Many of those who have turkeys are not ready to let them go yet, saying that they are not large enough. The truth is the "crop" is a little late this season, owing perhaps to the late spring, and farmers want to hold and let the fowls grow more and perhaps they think that the price will grow in proportion. Local buyers are offering 9 and 10 cents per pound on foot and the present "kill" is intended for the Thanksgiving market.

LUMBER.—Marks & Green the local lumber men, have made a big purchase of logs from S. K. Coffey, who has been in the county for several months buying timber and shipping it out. This lumber was in the log and at the station here ready to be shipped when Marks & Green purchased it. Among Democratic politicians throughout the State there appears to be a faction which is growing in numbers and strength whose object will be to break up the endless chain in office of the administration clique. There is said to be much complaint at the way the campaign fund in the recent election was handled, the charge being made that Auditor Hager, who was also the Chairman of the Campaign Committee used it where it would also further his own interests as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor. The political gossipers have it that Hon. C. C. McChord of this place, will be urged by the anti administration forces of the State to become their candidate for the Governorship. Mr. McChord has not become involved with any party faction and we don't know that he will be, but this can be said of him, and that is that he is one of the strongest men before the masses of the people the party could select. He is not identified with any of the political rings or cliques which have been a discredit to the party in the State, and he numbers among his friends some of the most influential Democrats of Kentucky, who are willing to support him for anything he wants, which, together with the friendship of the masses of the people, should make McChord a strong factor to be considered in the next race for Governor.

The end of the Japanese-Russian war looks as far off as ever. The Japan government has just floated another war loan of $30,000,000 and the Russians announce that the war will continue to the bitter end, or until Russia is victorious. There is very little fighting in the vicinity of Mukden, but the Japanese continue to show signs of activity. A dispatch from the Japanese headquarters before Port Arthur says that rations in the fortress have been reduced and that the Japanese think the capture of the eastern fortified ridge will mean the surrender of the garrison in about two weeks.

They have a rough way of handling election returns in some parts of Kentucky. A dispatch says that the ballot boxes used in the Democratic primary election in Barren county Saturday were stolen from the court house at Glasgow early Tuesday morning by a gang of men, broken into and the ballots mutilated and scattered over town. The grand jury is investigating the robbery.

William Henry Jones, Republican, in the Third district, by the official count wins over Richardson by a majority of 55 votes. There is likely to be a contest over this election as well as in the Ninth district where both candidates are still claiming the election.

Mr. Frank Willett went to Lebanon Sunday. Charlie Trent and Pete Shan intended to go but very much to their disappointment found the Marion county boys had been a little too swift for them. They say that it is consolation for them to know that there are girls at home when they cannot go abroad.

It has been rumored around that a wedding is to take place in these parts soon.
Dad Shehan has rented the old toll gate house now occupied by the Fitzgeralds.

Mrs. G. A. Dohoney and daughter Mary of Lebanon were over last week to attend the funeral of Duncan Leachman and visited W. P. Merritt and family.

Dr. Williams left Monday for his new location at Maud. We will see to it that the next one comes there is a married man.

Valley Hill
We have had a nice rain recently which was a great relief to the small grain that was suffering from the effects of the long dry spell.

Mrs. Jas. Royalty and charming daughter of near Maud were in our midst last Wednesday.
W. T. Beam sold to L. M. Gregory of Pleasant Grove some cattle averaging 1120 pounds at $3.65 per hundred. Mr. Gregory also purchased some calves from John Cutsinger of near this place.

Several from this place attended Luther Burns' sale Thursday. One man got so cold that he left his partner and walked home, a distance of 8 miles.

A CHROMATIC CHARMER.
Isabella is brilliant in yellow.
Isabella is dainty in pink.
And when she wears red
She goes right to my head.
Isabella's dearest in scarlet, I think.
Purple sets off the fringe of her lashes.
And orange becomes her waist.
While a violet gown
Makes the sweetest frown.
I never am "blue" when she's blue.
She's stunningly sweet in a black dress.
She's equally smart in a white.
And if you should ask me
I think I would take her
To any place she felt all right.

What is it you like? "I am partial!"
Oh, stop it, you cute take the cake!
You know, let your love Isabella's my wife.
What difference on earth does that make?
—Judge.

Making Work Easier.
Typewriter—Couldn't you manage to lighten my work? I'm not so strong as I was formerly.
Employer—All right. Hereafter don't hit the keys so hard and only lick the stamps in the corners.—New York Mail and Express.

A Considerate People.
"They are such considerate people in Chicago, you know," said the old lady as she returned to her village after a shopping excursion to that metropolis. "You got your right change every time, didn't you?"
"La, yes, and I must tell you how they treated me in a 'brick-laid' store. I went in there to look at some Italian relics, and the clerk took the greatest pains to show me everything. I finally mentioned that when my dear husband was crossing the plains twenty years ago he was killed and scalped by the Indians; and that clerk almost wept for me."

"That was indeed kind of him. After he had almost wept, did he want to sell you any goods?"
"He lent it all to me. He said he was awfully sorry about my husband being killed, just as they had the scalp lock of the Indian who killed him and as it seemed to be a sorrowful case I might have the relic for $5 to hang on the parlor wall."

The Good They Did.
Mrs. Connally—Was Mrs. Lottman successful in her charitable endeavor?
Mrs. Neardley—Was she? She got into the Four Hundred on them—Judge.

Oh, How Terrible!
Synthetic Friend—I see your son was injured at college. Was it from playing football?
Parent—No. He was dropped twice.—Princeton Tiger.

Encouraged Near For Cattle.
I have been feeding beef and bulls a lot lately, and I keep cattle on alfalfa or twenty years, says a cattle farmer to Farm and Ranch, thinks very highly of it. When I get a calf on full feed of alfalfa and milk I recently give them a pound of alfalfa in four pounds of milk thoroughly mixed. Have had many very satisfactory experiences in feeding corn hay in connection with alfalfa and milk. Thirty pounds of alfalfa, five pounds of corn hay and three pounds of alfalfa make a feed for a three-month-old calf. The alfalfa is made into a hay, and a hundred days feeding will finish him.

To Keep Hay Fresh & Green.
Many farmers in cold regions have no means for keeping their hay fresh in cold weather, but an ingenious farmer once showed the writer his way of solving that problem. Around a stack he built a box as high as the stack and with its sides about eighteen inches from the stack all around. The space was packed solidly with fresh straw, horse manure, etc. When the device was shown the outdoor temperature was 25 degrees below zero, but the alfalfa inside was at 40 degrees. The alfalfa was kept in this way for several days. There was no loss of hay, and the alfalfa was as fresh as when it was cut.

Disperses.
"He seems to be a reckless sort of fellow."
"I should say so. Why, that fellow would take to an automobile—reckless life."
—Crust.

Crust.
"I was knocked senseless when a mule bit me."
"Well, don't the dealer think you'll get over it?"—Huntington News.

The Veterinary Doctor.
To treat the pipe of a veterinary in from soap and lime put two large handfuls of common salt at the bottom of the basin at night. This will gradually dissolve, and the first dash of water in the morning will clear the waste pipe.

The exercise of keeping the elbows straight and throwing the arms back, until the back of the hands touch below the waist line is good to the point.

HINTS FOR FARMERS
How to Tan Sheep Pelts.
A competent farmer gives the following simple process for tanning the sheep pelts, says National Stockman. This process may be used for tanning any other fur skin. Wash the pelt in warm water with soap and lye till the wool is thoroughly cleaned. Rinse it well. Soak it for one day in a solution of alum and salt, using enough alum to change water to over the pelts. Strain well and stretch on a board. When the pelt is laid dry, rub it with the back of the hand, and let it remain for a week, then it is ready for use. When well dried, rub the flesh side with a little salt. This will make the skin substance soft and white. This completes the tanning process.

Use Bedding Abundantly.
Cold weather is coming and animals need confined in stables or pens till they have bedding, says American Cultivator. It will pay to keep them abundantly supplied, as this is not only for the comfort of the animals, but for the value of the manure heap. With every animal which is kept in a stall, there is a liability to find a little of the excrement of the animal at least in a second round. Having more bedding, the animal will have more manure, and one way to secure it is by providing an abundant supply of bedding material. Even if there appears to be a large quantity of this material in the manure, making it more and more, it can be used as a fertilizer or will answer an excellent purpose, as there is need of more manure in most of our soils.

Louis, a member of the Redemptorist order, founded by St. Alphonse Ligouri about 150 years ago, is conducting a mission at field, which began last Sunday and will end on next Sunday.

The Missionary is a man of great abilities, and is attracting large entirely devoid of anything intended to wound or hurt.

An important decision was rendered in court here last week in the case of James H. Hove et al vs. the Supreme Council of the Knights of America by Judge L.
H. Thurman. The suit was instituted in the Marion Circuit Court to prevent the Supreme Council Catholic Knights' of America from putting into effect the new schedule of insurance rates recently adopted by that order. Owing to the importance of the suit an early adjudication of the question was desired by both parties, and by agreement the case was brought to this county, being in the same judicial district. A demurrer to the petition was overruled and the case was tried on its merits.

After hearing much proof on the question Judge Thurman dismissed the petition, which is an effect holds that the increase is reasonable and the order had the right to make the change in order to put itself on a sound financial basis.

Cutting Affray
Sam Wagner, a carpenter, who came here from Bardonia several weeks ago, and who has been at work on Mr. C. A. Green's new house, seriously cut Everett Bradshaw, a well-known old farmer and tobacco tenant, who lives a short distance from town.
Bradshaw and Wagner, who were,
from all accounts, both drunk, became engaged in a quarrel in front of Bert Thompson's saloon at about half past six o'clock Tuesday evening.
What passed between the two could not be learned, as the eye-witnesses were not inclined to talk. Wagner began work with his knife on Bradshaw's after he claims, he had been knocked down, and inflicted four vicious cuts in Bradshaw's neck which narrowly escaped striking a vital point. Dr. George Shaunty dressed the wounds and says that the man had a narrow escape with his life. One wound is across the back of the neck four inches in length and extending to the bone; another is on the right side of the neck and misled by a hair's breadth the large artery; another is an ugly gash in the neck, and the fourth cut is in the arm reaching from the shoulder to the elbow. The wounds while painful are not considered dangerous unless complications set in. Wagner's case was called yesterday before Judge Noe and set for trial on Friday.

Death of Duncan Leachman.

Duncan Leachman, twenty years old, son of Mrs. Nannie Leachman and Nelson Leachman (deceased), died last Wednesday night of pneumonia. He had been sick about a week but little hope was entertained from the first, as his lungs had not fully healed from another attack of pneumonia he had last winter.
The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Overstreet at the Pleasant Grove church at which he was a member Friday morning at 11 o'clock.

In the death of Duncan Leach-man the county has lost a valuable citizen, for it is the young men of sterling character, upright in business, with ambition to push forward to a higher standard of morals and business that the older citizens look to as their successors. His social qualities and his all his acquaintances, and his popularity was evidenced by the large concourse of people who followed his remains to the grave amid mingled tears with those of the grief-stricken mother, sisters and brothers.

He was a member of the State Guard and a number of his comrades in uniform acted as honorary pall bearers. He has answered the summons of the Great Commander of the Army of the Redeemed and has passed in review before the Great White Throne and exchanged his earthly uniform for one not made by hands. His sword for a harp, and is singing the glad hallelujahs of the Redeemed on High.

Seven Modern Wonders.
The seven world wonders of antiquity were the pyramids, Babylon's suspense, Menes' tomb, the temple of Diana, the colossus of Rhodes, Jupiter's statue by Phidias and the Pa-rtes of Egypt, or, as some substitute, the palace of Cyrus.

The seven wonders of the middle ages were the coliseum of Rome, the cathedral of Alexandria, the great wall of China, Stonehenge, the leaning tower of Pisa, the porcelain tower of Nanhai and the mosque of St. Sophia at Constantinople.

How will these compare with the seven wonders of the modern world?
Perhaps there may be a difference of opinion as regards the latter day wonders, but the following are substituted:
The steam railway, the telegraph, the ocean steamship, the submarine man-of-war and the airship.

Game of Rainsdrops.
A picturesque and interesting game is known as rainsdrops. Sides are chosen by two leaders, who arrange their players at either end of the room.
A net of white tulle is stretched across the center of the room, and a small table or stand is placed on each side about four feet from the net. On each side there is an incandescent glass finger bowl filled with soapy water. All the children are provided with soap bubbles and on the signal colored ribbons. Seven children on one side of the net try to blow their bubbles over the net to the opposite side, while their opponents prevent them from coming over by beating them with their pipes before they cross the net. The next seven bubbles are blown by the other side, and the game goes on until ten bubbles have been put across by either one of the sides.

Trick With a Plate.
Do you know how to balance a china plate on the point of a needle and even cause it to spin steadily upon the delicate support?

Put two corks down the middle, and in the ends of the four halves thus obtained insert forks, inclined to the smooth sides of the corks at a little less than right angles.

Place these four corks around the rim of the plate at equal distances from one another, and see that the teeth of the forks are in direct contact with the rim, to prevent them from slipping.

With a little care this plate can now be balanced on the point of a needle whose eye has been buried in the cork of an upright bottle.

By giving it a gentle rotary motion the plate may be made to spin around which it will do for quite a long time.
